

Is your company ready?

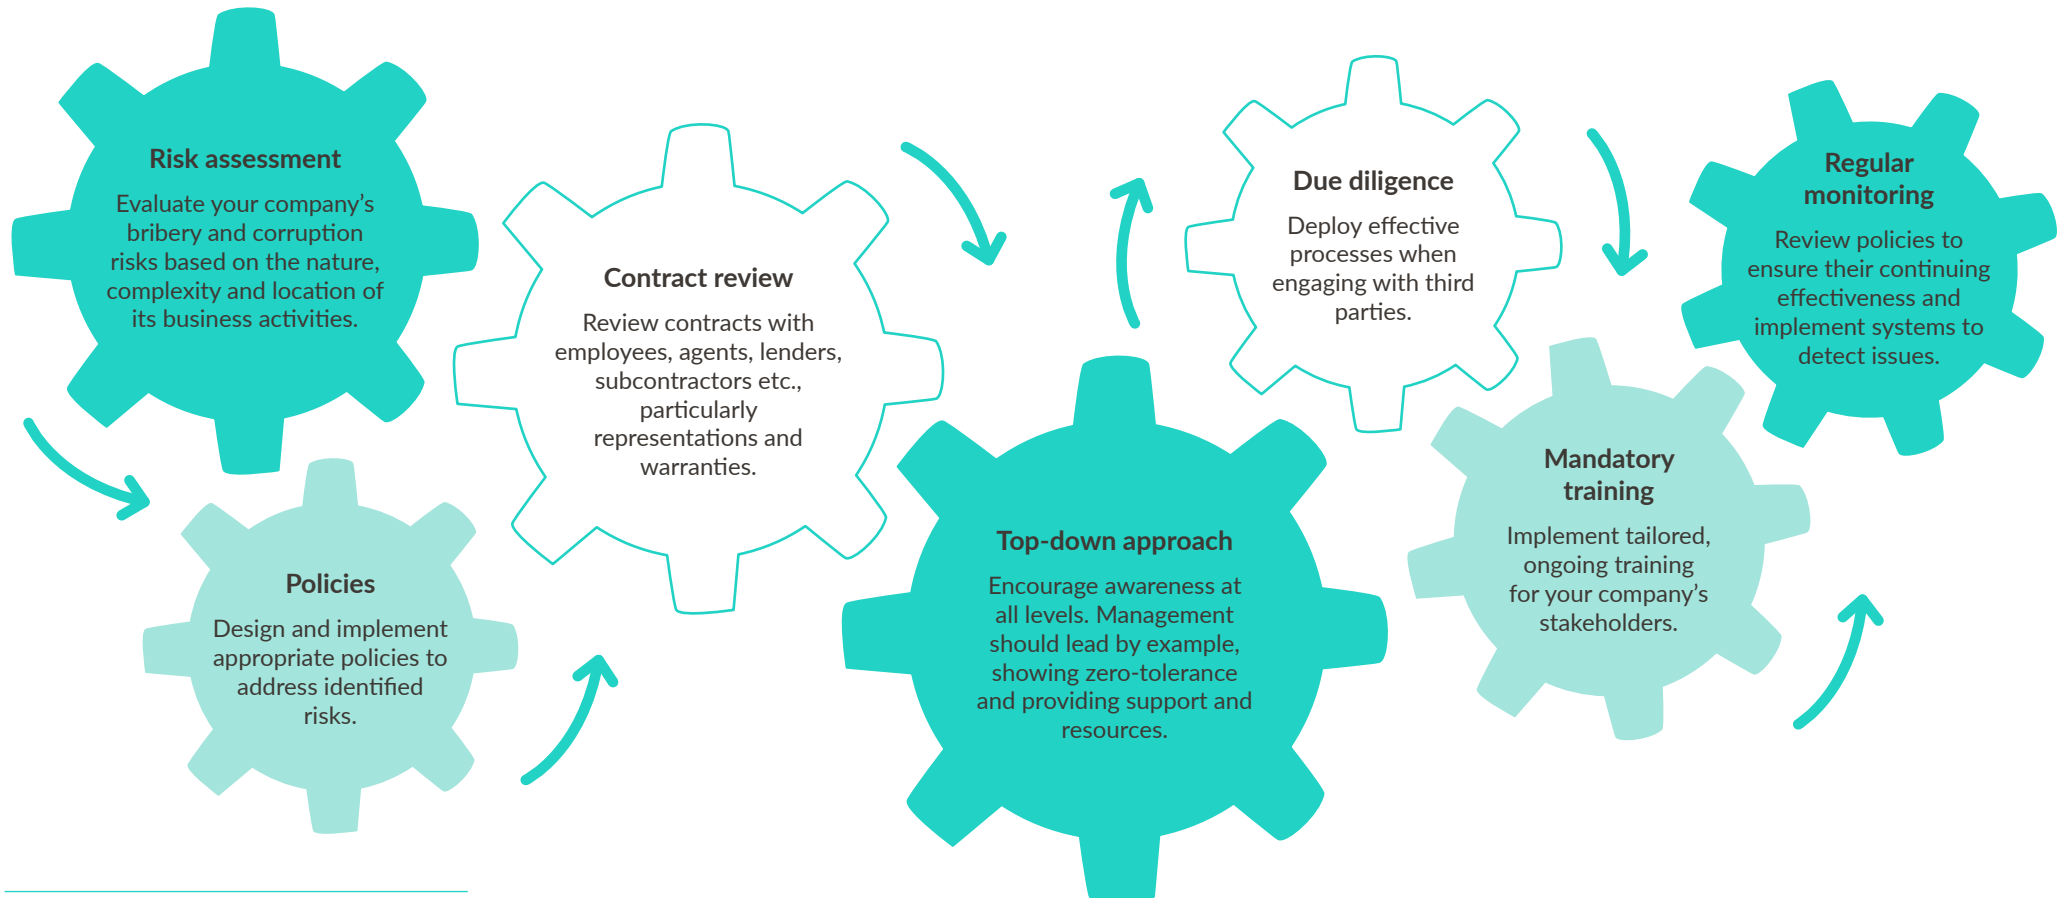

Preparing for new Irish Bribery and Corruption Laws

New legislation is to be introduced in Q4 2018. Irish companies, particularly those doing business in high corruption risk countries, and companies operating in Ireland should be preparing.

How can your company protect itself?

The Bill envisages that companies can be held liable for bribery or corruption offences committed by employees, officers, agents or subsidiaries unless they can prove that they took all reasonable steps and exercised all due diligence to prevent such offences. Mandatory reporting obligations may also apply.

What practical steps can your company take now?

Key contacts

Joe Kelly
Partner +353 1 649 2429
jkelly@algoodbody.com

Kenan Furlong
Partner
+353 1 649 2260
kfurlong@algoodbody.com

Dario Dagostino
Partner
+353 1 649 2308
ddagostino@algoodbody.com

Liam Kennedy
Partner
+353 1 649 2501
lkennedy@algoodbody.com

Katie O'Connor
Partner (effective 1 May 2018)
+353 1 649 2591
koconnor@algoodbody.com

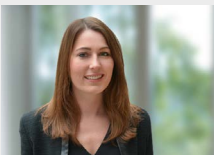

Louise Byrne
Associate
+353 1 649 2000
lmbyrne@algoodbody.com

Cathal Grennan
Associate +353 1 649 2236
cgrennan@algoodbody.com

Mark Devane
Associate +353 1 649 2221
mdevane@algoodbody.com

Danielle Fleming
Solicitor
+353 1 649 2033
dfleming@algoodbody.com

Sarah Morrissey
Solicitor
+353 1 649 2034
smorrissey@algoodbody.com